LABOR OWNERSHIP OF INDUSTRY FOR MEXICO PROPOSED

MEXICO CITY, June 7. (UP)—President Lazaro Cardenas' advocacy of Mexico's industrialization under labor ownership was one of the "most sensational" statements ever made by the chief executive, the newspaper Excelsior said today. The president's statement was part of his nationwide radio address Saturday night from San Luis Potosi. In his talk Cardenas also assailed foreign oil companies for conducting an "economic offensive" against this country because of expropriation of their properties.

"The president's program could not be better," Excelsior said. "However, Mexico's laborers and peasants lack the necessary preparation to undertake a task of such magnitude.C ardenas' attitude is admirable but (the program) may encounter hard obstacles in practice."

The renewed attack on the oil companies, the editorial said, indicated that the latest attempt to settle the indemnity quesion have failed. The paper added:

"Cardenas asked his advisors, with him at present in San Luis Potosi, to study the possibility of converting funds donated toward payment of the oil debt to some productive use. The donors would be consulted before such a change would be made in the intended disposition of the donations.

Imperial county's temporary prison camp at the rock crusher near Mt. Superstition became a permanent feature of county government Monday when the board of supervisors arranged for its maintenance next year.

They voted to include $2,500 in the budget for the prison camp. Prisoners from the county jail are sent to the rock crusher to prepare crushed rock for use on county highways.

The county hospital will blossom out in window awnings. The board ordered them installed at a cost not to exceed $400. A new automobile was ordered for the sheriff's department. The cost was $632.41.

A budget hearing was set for June 20 and all county officers instructed to be present.

Barton Proposes Study of Evils

WASHINGTON, June 7. (UP)—Rep. Bruce Barton, R., N. Y., advertising executive who ran for congress on a "repeal a law a week" platform, today proposed the creation of seven joint congressional commissions to study "the seven deadly sores" of the current economic situation.

He suggested that the commissions, during the forthcoming recess, study and report to the next congress on the farm problem; unemployment and relief; the problem of social security; the problem of a tax program designed to stimulate instead of to strangle industry; reciprocal trade policy; government competition with private industry—particularly in the field of public utilities, and the railroad problem.

Land, to grow Calapproved seed, must not have grown grain sorghums, sudan milo, or other crops likely to cross pollinate for at least two years. They also must be planted at least 1,000 feet from any like field of sorghum or sudan unless planted in Calapproved seed.

BARBER SHOP SINGING IDEA GETS BACKERS

TULSA, Okla., June 7. (UP)—O. C. Cash, who is ready at a moment's notice to break into song at the sound of a pitch pipe, thumbed through his correspondence today and said it looked like his plans for the society for the preservation and encouragement of barber shop singing, Inc., was as contagious as Sweet Adeline.

"A judge in Knasas City, a railroad executive in St. Louis and a former Oklahoma governor are among those who have written asking for charters for their cities," said Cash. "I'm going to induct a unit in Kansas City June 18, and later we will have a national session in Tulsa. Will we show 'em some singing."

Cash said that when he got his idea for reviving and perpetuating the barbershop quartet he invited 10 men to his home.

"Twenty-five showed up, and all were in fine voice, too," he said. "At the next meeting there were 75. Some scoffers thought maybe the food and beer had something to do with it, but I'm sure it was the love of the old songs that brought them out.

"Why there were men in that crowd hadn't tried to reach a high note in 20 years. We got out some of the old songs like 'The Curse of an Aching Heart' and 'Meet Me in St. Louis, Louie', and those older fellows took to them like a high school kid does to Benny Goodman."

Belgian Borgia Faces Trial for Murdering 11 Park Bench Friends

LIEGE, Belgium, June 7. (UP)—Marie Petitjean Becker, 58-year-old widow called "the Belgian Borgia," goes on trial for her life today on charges of poisoning 11 persons with whom she struck friendships on park benches.

The woman, said to have won over her victims with kindness and to have nursed them tenderly when they fell ill under her doses of digitalis, was arrested two years ago when she allegedly picked her sweetheart as her 11th victim.

Ten of the victims were women, mostly widows whose money Mme. Becker was accused of seeking.

Six hundred witnesses will be called to the trial, which is expected to last a month. The arraignment consisted of three books of transcript of 400 pages each.

If found guilty, the "Belgian Borgia" will be condemned to death but such sentences involving women usually are commuted to life imprisonment in Belgium.

The series of mysterious deaths occurred between March, 1933 and October, 1936. Mme. Becker was finally arrested in 1936. Police found a phial of digitalis and four rings in her possession.

The woman declared she used the digitalis to treat her own heart disease. Doctors who examined her said she was not suffering from any heart ailment.

Six doctors declared the dead persons were poisoned by digitalis.

The "Belgian Borgia," as she is known, apparently lived quietly with her husband, a cabinet-maker and owner of a sawmill, until 1932.

Police said she began to frequent "night spots," first with women companions and later with men younger than herself, after her husband died of cancer.

Alfred Casabon, aged El Centran, was declared insane by the county sanity commission Monday and committed to Patton institution for the insane.

Casabon's friends insisted that he be released and expressed willingness to be responsible for him, officials pointed out. He left for Patton Monday night in an ambulance. Dr. W. H. Haakinson, resident physician at the county hospital, and Deputy Sheriff Bill Lott, accompanied him. His condition is said to be serious.

Film Authors to Name Bargainers

WASHINGTON, June 7. (UP)—The National Labor Relations board ruled today that movie writers are employes under the Wagner act.

It ordered an election at 18 of Hollywood's major studios to determine whether the writers want the Screen Writers Guild, Inc., Screen laywrights, Inc., both independent organizations, or neither group to represent them in collective bargaining. The board ordered the election despite the fact that seven of the companies involved had signed contracts with screen playwrights, to run for five years, on April 19, 1937.

"A year has already expired," the board said, "and the evidence raises a substantial question as to whether the employes involved desire the Screen Playwrights to continue to represent them."

PORTLAND HOTEL STRIKE VOTED IF AGREEMENT FAILS

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7. (UP)—Workers in Portland's largest hotels and restaurants voted "by a large majority" to strike if their joint executive board is unable to reach agreement with operators on 1938 wage hour contracts, union leaders announced here today.

Officials of the Culinary and Hotel Workers' union, American Federation of Labor affiliate, indicated they might time walkout action to coincide with the opening of the annual rose festival show Wednesday.

A strike at that time would seriously affect the handling of the thousands of visitors expected to attend the festival.

Gertrude Sweet, secretary of the Waitresses' union, said official figures of the strike vote of the approximately 5500 workers would be announced after results are submitted to the joint union board handling negotiations.

The strike issue concerns the renewal of contracts which expired a week ago. Culinary workers have protested operators' demands for a return to 1935 wage and hour standards, while hotel owners have refused to renew agreements until they are convinced the unions involved in the negotiation actually represent a majority of the workers.
