They Will Not Assess Unpatened Claims.

Much good is expected to result from the meeting of the county assessors at Phenix. Assessor L. W. Wakfield stated that a better understanding about assessing property at a uniform rate throughout the territory had been arrived at.

It is understood that the assessors will not put unpatented mines on the tax roll. This matter was discussed at length and it was the conclusion that it would be better in the end for both the territory and the prospectors if unpatented mines were not taxed. As soon as the mines reach any importance at all they are patented and then come in for their just share of taxation.

Of course if any attempt is made to escape taxation by not having mines patented, the unpatened property will be assessed. The patented mines will be assessed here at $500 each. In Yavapai county they are assessed at $750 but this is due to the fact that there are more paying mines in that county.—Tucson Citizen.

Bluebeard Hoch Hanged.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 23.—Johann Hoch, convicted of the murder of his wife, Marie Welker Hoch was hanged in the county jail at 1:34 o'clock. Three times respited, Hoch insisted to the last to be granted all the delay the law conceded him. Under the sentence he was to hang between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. When the last appeal to the federal court was denied, Hoch abandoned all hope, but insisted that he be allowed to live until 1:30. This was granted and Hoch ordered and ate a hearty dinner. Hoch walked upon the scaffold quietly and stood directly under the noose, with heels together, and body erect, like a soldier on parade. He was pale, but composed and full of courage. He said:

"Father forgive them, they know not what they do! I must die, an innocent man. Goodbye." Hoch confessed to a clergyman, shortly before being taken to the scaffold, who later, when asked if he had confessed to the murder said: "Well, he said he had been a bigamist, and a very wicked man."

The Gentleman From Arizona.

Tht Littlefield gambling bill, as amended, will go into effect sixty days after it is signed by the president. There has been some anxcity among the fraternity for fear that the law was to take effect immediately upon its passage, which is the case with most bills passed by congress. The Littlefield bill originally so read, but was amended by the house committee. It is stated upon good authority that the Littlefield gambling bill was drafted by a gentleman from Arizona.—Albuquerque Citizen.
