Presidents, Clippers Clash Here Tonight

EASTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Goals F.	Goals A.
Philadelphia	2	1	0	6	13	8
Clinton	2	1	0	4	15	9
Charlotte	2	3	0	4	10	18
WASHINGTON	1	2	0	0	6	7
Johnstown	1	1	0	2	5	6
New Haven	1	2	0	2	10	13

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
Charlotte, 3; WASHINGTON, 1.
Philadelphia, 4; Clinton, 3.
TONIGHT'S GAMES
Charlotte at WASHINGTON, 8:30.
Philadelphia at Clinton.
New Haven at Johnstown.

Washington, despite a 1-2 record in the Eastern Hockey League, has demonstrated it has an aggressive team capable of starting a winning streak at any time.

The time could be tonight when the Presidents take on the Charlotte Clippers at 8:30 at Uline Arena.

The Presidents battled on even terms with the Clippers last night at Charlotte for two periods before bowing in the final period, 3-1, before more than 5,000 fans.

Washington opened its season last Saturday at home with a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia, but then lost to Johnstown, 3-2, and to the Clippers last night.

The Presidents, as indicated by the scores, have thrown up a fine defense, but Player-Coach Andy Branigan is concerned about the lack of punch shown thus far by his team. He is hoping his boys break out with a rash of goals soon and tonight would be just fine.

Chuck Stuart put the Clippers ahead in the first period last night, but Washington came back to tie it on a shot by Rene Pepin, assisted by Jean Leclerc and Gordie Flaman.

The two teams went scoreless in the second period, but Charlotte shot ahead in the final period on Bill Sinnett's unassisted goal and another by Jim McNulty, assisted by Bibber O'Hearn and Bob Ewer.

Dennis Brodeur, goalie for Charlotte, was the thorn in Washington's side, being credited with 35 saves, 17 in the first period.

WASHINGTON	1	0	0	—1
CHARLOTTE	1	0	2	—3

(Saves—Brodeur, 35; Sofiak, 27).
FIRST PERIOD: Scoring—Charlotte, Stuart (O'Hearn, Brophy), 13:14; Washington—Pepin (Leclerc, Flaman) 19:33.
SECOND PERIOD: Scoring—None.
THIRD PERIOD: Scoring—Charlotte, Sinnett (unassisted), 3:36; McNulty (O'Hearn, Ewer), 18:12.

Belvoir Continues Streak, Bolling and Quantico Hosts

Fort Belvoir, off to a slow start in football this season, apparently has found the winning formula and now will seek its fourth straight victory when it meets Fort Myer at home next Friday night.

The Engineers won their third straight last night, a 14-8 decision over Fort Dix before 4,500 fans at Belvoir.

Two service games are being played this afternoon. Bolling Air Force Base and Eglin AFB, both unbeaten, will meet at 1:45 at Bolling, the game being televised over WMAL—7.

Quantico is host to Lockbourne AFB, also at 1:45.

Two first quarter touchdowns were all Belvoir needed. It held the Burros scoreless until the final period.

Lee Hermsen, top gainer last night, scored Belvoir's first touchdown, cutting off tackle 10 yards to end an 11-play 70-yard drive.

Earl Cato, former Little All-America halfback at Compton Junior College, scored the Engineers' other touchdown on a 38-yard run. Cato, in the second period, took a short pass from Quarterback Bob Alkire and went 85 yards into the end zone, but the touchdown was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Fort Dix, 2-5 for the season, picked up its lone touchdown on a 25-yard play from Jack Stephens to Frank Nappi.

FORT BELVOIR	14	0	0	0	—14
FORT DIX	0	0	0	8	— 8

Fort Belvoir—Hermsen 10, run (Cato, pass fro Alkire).
Fort Belvoir—Cato 38, run (pass failed).
Fort Dix—Nappi, 25 pass fro Stephens (Claus, pass from Stephens).

Gomez, Conlan To Hold Clinics in Latin America

Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, former Yankee pitching ace, and John (Jocko) Conlan, National League umpire, will team up for a one-month tour of nine Latin American countries.

Traveling under State Department sponsorship, they will conduct baseball clinics and talk to young baseball hopefuls in the Caribbean area as part of the Government's cultural affairs program.

Gomez and Conlan came here yesterday for briefings before starting the tour. Their first stop will be Havana, followed by visits to Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras and El Salvador.

Charles' Manager Faces Court Action

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1 (AP).—Tom Tannas, manager of Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight boxing champion, was indicted by a Federal grand jury yesterday on a charge of making a false application for a loan from the Small Business Administration.

Tannas is accused of falsely stating that he never had been arrested. The FBI claims he was arrested by State police in 1938 and 1939 on charges of operating a gambling house in New Kensington, Pa.

The application for a $60,000 loan was made for the Warrington Five and Ten Cent Stores, Inc., Pittsburgh, of which Tannas is treasurer. He also is city clerk in Arnold, Pa.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

Answer

4. Fullback pitchout. Worst call. It takes a fast fullback to make this go.

3. Draw play. You haven't been passing, so the draw play isn't set up.

2. Pass to left half deep. Since you're on the 12, the natural boundaries of the field restrict the area the defense has to patrol.

1. Pitchout to halfback. Best call. The fast back could go all the way

4 Students Pay Fines on Campus Gaming Counts

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 1 (AP).—Three University of Michigan students arrested in connection with a campus football gambling racket have paid fines of $100 and court costs each after pleading guilty to charges of engaging in an illegal occupation.

Nick Mitea, 21, of Ecorse, Mich.; John A. Miller of Utica, Mich., and Michael G. Dodson, 21, of Grand Rapids, pleaded guilty yesterday before Municipal Court Judge Francis O'Brien.

David Martin, 19, of Detroit, a student at Eastern Michigan College in nearby Ypsilanti, yesterday pleaded guilty to a similar charge. Judge O'Brien set November 7 for sentencing. Martin was released on $150 bond.

Seven University of Michigan students, including football fullback Tony Rio and basketball captain Jack Lewis, were arrested in the crackdown on football card gambling at Michigan. Trial dates for Rio, Lewis and two others have been set for later this month. Rio, Lewis and the other Michigan students stood mute at their arraignment Wednesday.

Frank Graham Gets Rice Award

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP).—Frank Graham, sports columnist of the New York Journal-American, received the Grantland Rice Memorial Award of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood yesterday.

The award is made annually "for an outstanding example of sports reporting in the Rice tradition."

Manassas Draws 200 Auto Entries

More than 200 entries from various points on the East Coast have been turned in for the drag races to be held on the fifth-mile track at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Old Dominion Speedway.

Prominent contestants include Don, Weis, Joe Tucci, Frank Fannan, Ed Sloper, Dick Acton, Bill Cheek, Pete Magni, Dick Evans, Roy Tillinghast, Don Viar, Perry Wilkinson and Charlie and Kico Hedrick.

Nixon Says Big League Ball Will Become International

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 1 (AP).—Vice President Nixon—sport fan—said yesterday he believes Congress will give professional sports time to clean its own house, and he thinks major league baseball will go international.

Those forecasts came at a relaxed huddle with a dozen sports writers and sportscasters in his hotel suite, after his main news conference.

Nixon listed Mexico City, Caracas, Tokyo, Montreal and Toronto as cities he expects some day to be in the major leagues.

He admitted with a grin that sports programs are his favorite fare:

"I never watch political programs. I would much rather watch a bowling match," he said.

He said he thinks, that Washington "is one of the best baseball cities in the country. The trouble is the kind of baseball the Senators play. They've just got to start plowing some of their profits back into the club. I think Cookie Lavagetto did a fine job managing with the material he had."

TODAY IN THE WOMEN'S WORLD

Missile Experts Gather In Halloween Setting

By MARY L. VAUGHAN
Star Staff Writer

Dozens of America's top missile experts and their wives got together at a Washington party last night.

As one guest remarked in surveying the scene, "there are more brains in this room right now than you'll ever see together again in this town."

The collective gathering of VIP science experts were guests at a cocktail party given by the Chief of Naval Research Rear Admiral and Mrs. Bennett to meet Dr. T. Keith Glennan, the new administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Mrs. Glennan. The event was held in the Army and Navy Town Club.

Weighty matters were put aside for the occasion with the guests mingling in a Halloween setting of cornhusks stacked in corners, and a huge black witch riding a black space rocket above the bar.

Revolving 'Sputnik'

Most eye-catching part of the decor was a huge plastic lighted "sputnik" globe revolving over the buffet, which housed a doll-size green garbed leprechaun. Said one scientist's wife, "I like that better than mice."

Mrs. Bennett looking lovely in a pale blue satin sheath, was congratulated over and over again on the decor which she had personally arranged.

Also in the receiving line were the Glennans, she in a black faille suit with a huge yellow chrysanthemum pinned to one shoulder, and the Deputy Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Dr. Hugh Dryden and Mrs. Dryden.

Killian Foursome

Guests were a bit confused over one foursome chatting together, Presidential Scientific Advisor Dr. James Killian and Mrs. Killian and Dr. Thomas Killian who is Chief Scientist in the Office of Naval Research and his wife. The latter Mrs. Killian said although not related, her husband and Dr. "Jim" both attended M.I.T. together and for years have been receiving mixed invitations and mail.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air Garrison Norton and Mrs. Norton were early arrivals seen chatting with Rear Admiral Armand Morgan, Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Ships, for ship Design and Research and Mrs. Morgan.

Rear Admiral Kleber Masterson who is director of the Guided Missiles Division, Naval Operations was there with his charming wife.

Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. Arleigh Burke also were among the many guests as were Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Fred Bantz, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. Robert Pirie, British Vice Admiral and Mrs. Geoffrey Thistleton Smith; former Chief of Naval Operation Admiral Fechteler, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Eugene Peltier, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Leonidas Coates, Dr. John Hagen who is director of Project Vanguard and Mrs. Hagen, Chief of the Bureau of Ships and Mrs. Albert Mumma, Mr. Roy Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Project Agency who came alone as his wife is out of town, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Basil Rittenhouse and many, many more.

Another activity yesterday that drew a number of service people was a retirement ceremony and retreat parade at Fort Myer honoring three Army generals.

Officers Retire

The officers are Maj. Gen. Patrick Ryan, Chief of Chaplians, U.S. Army; Maj. Gen. Herbert Maury Jones, Adjutant General, U.S. Army and Maj. Gen. Robert Schow who is Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence, U.S. Army.

Chaplain Ryan, retired with 30 years service while Maj. Gen. Jones and Maj. Gen. Schow retired with 40 years of service each.

Accompanying them on the reviewing stand were their co-hosts, Under Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton, II and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Acting Chief of Staff, U.S. Army.

Guggenheims Are Hosts

Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim gave a dinner at their residence Firenze House, last evening complete with Halloween motif.

The event, which had 80 guests, was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert May. Following dinner there was dancing in the great hall to Sidney and his orchestra.

WHY GROW OLD?

Final Two Menus Mark End of Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Register and Tribune Syndicate

This is the last day of my Trick and Treat Diet. As most of you know, this is a one-week diet and brings you a loss of about five pounds.

Because I have been printing this diet this week, my mind has run to reducing and its problems and to the many questions women ask concerning them. For instance, many of my readers complain that their fat is "solid" fat and that they therefore have trouble reducing.

Now, the only way any fat can be lost is to eat fewer calories than the body needs. Our fatty deposits are storage houses where the body stores fat we have consumed and which at the time did not need. Therefore, when we eat less than our requirements, these deposits supply the need and our bulges are reduced. It is as simple as that!

Diet Does It

Whether or not your fat is solid it can be reduced with diet. However, some women do lose much more rapidly than others and their fatty deposits may be a little different because of more water retention in their tissues. This is quickly lost. Usually when women say that they cannot lose because their flesh is so "solid" this is due to muscle development rather than to fatty deposits.

Many young women gain a great deal of weight during the first few years of marriage. They wonder if the married state has some special effect. It does, in this way: Before marriage the young lady was probably very active in sports, social life, college activities or business career, or a part of several of these.

Settles Down

After marriage she is likely to drop much of her girlhood social whirl and may become less active in sports because she settles down to her household routine. There is not so much money for fun as when her husband was dating her. She has more regular habits in sleep and she may nibble when at home most of the day; and of course she must sample her cooking.

Many folks think that all they have to do in order to lose weight is to cut sugar out of the diet. Actually, we need some sugar and, more often than not, fats are the offender. These are very high in calorie count. A moderate amount of each is indicated.

Rapist Faces Inquiry In 3 Other Slayings

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP).—Harvey Glatman, 30, rapist-strangler of three young women, faces questioning in the unsolved slayings of three other Los Angeles area women. But he says:

"I'm in as deep as I can get. There isn't anything worse can happen to me."

And of California's method of execution: "I guess they can only give me one shot of gas."

Police yesterday brought the television repairman here 40 miles from Santa Ana, near where he was arrested Monday night. A highway patrolman happened by on a motorcycle as Glatman struggled beside a car with his fourth intended victim, Miss Lorraine Vigil, 28, a model. Two of his three victims also were models.

Goes to Graves

Before dawn yesterday Glatman led detectives to the graves of two of the victims—Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, a divorcee he dated through a lonely hearts club, and Miss Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, model and dancer.

The remains of both lay 26 miles apart in a remote, sandy area east of San Diego.

A body found in adjoining Riverside County last December is believed to be that of his third victim, Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19. Glatman told investigators he raped all three and strangled them with a five-foot length of sash cord.

Police said Glatman will be questioned in the slayings of Marjorie Hipperson, 24, a nurse found strangled with a stocking in her Los Angeles apartment June 10, 1957, and Mrs. Ruth Goldsmith, 50, choked with a stocking in her apartment April 5, 1957.

Lt. C. W. McGowan of the sheriff's homicide division said "we are by no means satisfied" Glatman is not the killer of Mrs. Jean Ellroy, 43, El Monte nurse strangled with cotton rope and a stocking in bushes bordering a school playground last July 15.

Confesses Others

Shortly after denying knowing of this killing, Glatman confessed the others Thursday.

After being booked in the downtown police building here on suspicion of murder, Glatman last night ate his first solid meal in 24 hours—frankfurters, corn, French apple pie, ice cream.

"I really didn't like to kill," he told a newsman. "I didn't have that urge. It was just that I got past that point of no return.

"I was afraid they'd identify me. Well, not me, because nobody had my picture out here," the New York and Colorado ex-convict added. "But the car. They'd make that."

Why did he use a rope when he had a pistol?

"Ever since I was a child I have been fascinated by rope. It seems as if I always had a piece of rope in my hands."

He remarked: "It's my mother. I really feel sorry for her. This is going to be harder on her than on me."

Mrs. A. H. Glatman, 69, Denver, sobbed on learning of her son's arrest: "Oh, my God in heaven! Not my boy! Not my boy! He was always so good. He never hurt anybody. . ."

Thompson Is Charged In Death of Mrs. Hicks

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1 (AP).—Richard J. Thompson, 49, last night formally acknowledged a confession that he beat and robbed several women tourists. He was immediately charged with five crimes including homicide.

One of his victims died.

His previous confession had no legal effect until he ratified it in the attorney general's office.

Other charges against him are inflicting bodily injury, robbery, fraud and falsification of documents. He is accused of forging the name of one victim to travelers checks.

The prisoner confirmed he had not been coerced into making the confession.

Airtight Case Claimed

Secret Service police who arrested him at gunpoint Wednesday say they have an airtight case against Thompson. They say that in addition to his statements, he has been identified from his picture by several persons and that they are now afaiting further documentation from an unidentified source in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Thompson, who said he is a native of Bakersfield, Calif., told police and reporters he beat and robbed Mrs. Harriet Ann Hicks of Coral Gables, Fla.

He first denied any knowledge of the case but police said after they found traveler's checks with Mrs. Hicks' name in his possession, he admitted the assault. She later died but Thompson blamed her death on rural Indians who he said beat her when he left her unconscious in a remote area, police said.

Four Attacks Known

After the attorney general's office files charges, Thompson will be moved to city jail, the old black palace of Lecumberi, to await trial.

Four assault victims have reported the attacks to their embassies but officials say there may be others who were ashamed to.

Thompson, who came to Mexico as a miner, is accused of luring his victims with promises of taking them to suburban native markets, then attacking and robbing them.

Police quoted the tall, blue-eyed, sharp-jawed blond as saying he had a complex about stockings worn by his women victims.

Detroit Polio Cases Seen at an End

DETROIT, Nov. 1 (AP).—City health officials say Detroit's 1958 polio epidemic apparently has run its course despite the reporting of one new case yesterday.

The city's 1958 polio case load now stands at 621. There have been 21 deaths. In the corresponding period last year Detroit recorded 177 polio cases and two deaths.

Apologetic Pasternak Told He Can Leave

to any Soviet State authority with the request for a visa to travel abroad, and on the part of these organs there were and will be no objections against granting him such an exit visa.

"If Pasternak wishes to leave altogether the Soviet Union and the social order and people which he slanders in his anti-Soviet composition, Doctor Zhivago, the official authorities will not hinder him in that respect in any way. He will be given the chance of departing beyond the frontiers of the USSR and of experiencing personally all the 'delights of the capitalist paradise.'"

Text of Letter

This is the text of a Tass report broadcast in Russian:

"On the 31st October Boris Pasternak addressed a letter to N. S. Khrushchev, to the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party and to the Soviet government, in which he says that he has informed the Swedish Academy of his voluntary refusal to accept the Nobel Prize.

"Pasternak says that he is bound to Russia by his birth, his life and work, and that he cannot visualize his fate apart from her.

"'Whatever my mistakes and errors may have been, the letter says, 'I could not imagine that I would find myself in the midst of such a political campaign which has been fanned around my name in the West.'"

Campaign Stepped Up

The letter followed a frenzied campaign against Mr. Pasternak by the Soviet press and radio since he accepted and later refused the Nobel Prize for Literature.

Newspapers and Communist organizations throughout the Soviet Union demanded he be stripped of his citizenship—which would involve expelling him from his mother country.

The Literary Gazette, official voice of the Soviet Writers' Union, cried for his expulsion from "this country whose interests he betrayed.

The newspaper printed a full page of attacks on the 68-year-old author of "Doctor Zhivago," leading off with a resolution of the Moscow branch of the Writers' Union.

"With wrath and indignation, the Soviet people condemn Mr. Pasternak's actions," said the headline.

The theme of the attacks was "Throw him out."

The Moscow writers, terming "Doctor Zhivago" anti-Soviet, appealed to the government to strip Mr. Pasternak of his citizenship.

Beamed in 10 Languages

Earlier, Radio Moscow jeered in broadcasts in 10 languages:

"Let him go where he wishes. No Soviet man or woman wants to breathe the air he breathes."

The fresh outcry came 48 hours after Secretary Vladimir Semichastny of the Young Communist League suggested, in Premier Khrushchev's presence, that the 68-year-old poet-novelist quit his homeland for "the air of the capitalist world."

Mr. Pasternak has already been stripped of membership in the Soviet Writers' Union as an outgrowth of the reaction here when he was named by the Swedish Academy of Letters last week as the winner of the 1953 Nobel Prize in literature.

Eight hundred members of the Moscow Writers' Union approved a stinging resolution against Mr. Pasternak and his book, a best-seller in the West that was turned down by the official Soviet publishing house. The writers had a five-hour meeting yesterday.

Though the union statement said Mr. Pasternak did not reject the prize, he had turned it down Wednesday. That was six days after the Nobel committee announced the award in Stockholm and after he had sent the committee a message of appreciation.

His wife said Thursday he had decided after renouncing the prize to retire completely from public life for a year, writing nothing. They live at an artist-writer settlement, Peredelkino, southwest of Moscow.

Pirated Version Issued

Though the book never made the grade with Soviet publishing officials, Mr. Pasternak's Italian publisher declared in Amsterdam last night a pirated version—"an illegal issue"—is circulating in the Soviet Union.

The publisher, Gian Giacomo Feltrinelli, did not specify where that version was printed.

Mr. Feltrinelli was in the Netherlands to talk with The Hague publishing house of Mouton & Co., about the distribution of 1,200 Russian-language copies by Mouton at the Vatican pavilion's information service at the Brussels World Fair. He contends there was a copyright infringement.

Mr. Pasternak's royalties on the book run into thousands of dollars. Editions have been issued or prepared for issue in more than a dozen countries, including the United States.

A Soviet official in Stockholm, Charge d'Affaires Nicolai Voinov, told the Swedish Writers Association yesterday that Mr. Pasternak will be paid the royalties.
